Dear Valued Client,

At Foundation Source, we are continuously innovating to make sure that your private foundation has the tools it needs to maximize impact and create a legacy of giving. With this in mind, we have spent the last several months updating and improving the user experience in Foundation Source Online (FSOL), which we have renamed Impactfully.

These updates do not change anything regarding the current services we provide your organization.

What you will notice is that our technology platform looks better and has more features that empower you and the next generation of grantmakers. And because our platform is influenced by decades of first-hand experience working with foundations and direct client feedback, we will continue to refine and enrich the platform to meet your evolving needs.

We know change can be disruptive, but we are here with you every step of the way. We are proud to bring you the powerful combination of modern technology and personalized attention that comes only from Foundation Source.

All the best,

Sunil Garga
President and CEO
